

Abstract

The invention concerns a method for heterogeneous phase detection of an analyte, the trifunctional reagent used for implementing said method, its use for detecting an analyte, as well as the device for detecting a corresponding analyte